WOMAN'S CLUB NEWS

The regular monthly meeting of the Home Arts Department of the Woman's Club of Greenbelt was held at the home of Mrs. Warren Steffen, 37 C Ridge on Thursday, January 31. The program featured a demonstration of the preparation of novel party refreshments by the hostess. The products of the demonstration were later enjoyed by the members.

On Thursday evening, February 7, the Board of Directors met at the home of Mrs. Henley Goode, 23 P Ridge for the regular monthly business meeting. Plans for assisting the Golden Age Club in the celebration of their Sixth Anniversary were reported by Mrs. Paul C. Donnelly, Co-Chairman of the Community Affairs Department. The Board voted to provide the refreshments, including a large birthday cake, for the party celebrating this event. The Woman's Club assisted the City Recreation Department in organizing the Golden Age Club in 1957. From a charter membership of 12 the club has increased to 55 young in heart men and women members who meet every Wednesday afternoon at the Youth Center. In addition to recreational activities for the members the club has undertaken many projects to assist patients in hospitals and institutions in the area.

Plans were completed for the celebration of the Woman's Club 23rd Anniversary which will be held at 8 p.m. on February 14 at the Greenbelt Community Church. The Chairman of this event will be Mrs. Samuel Houlton. Guests of Honor will include officers of the Sixth District, Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs and former members of the club.

Recreation Review

by James A. Wooldridge

Friday is Elementary Day at the Youth Center. All grades are invited to come for an afternoon of activities. Roller skating will be from 3 to 4:30. Basketball, games, and dancing will be offered from 4:30 to 5:30.

On Saturday, February 16, the Youth Center will sponsor a Valentine Dance for Junior and Senior teenagers. Time is 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Cost is $.50 for members and $.75 for non-members. Our "Valentine Teen Queen" will be crowned. The dress for the evening is heel and tie.

Twin Pines Family Fun Day for February will take place on Sunday, February 17, from 2 to 5 p.m. Games, roller skating, and movies will provide an afternoon of fun for all ages.

The band is interested in gaining more members. If you are interested in joining, come to the Youth Center on Monday nights at 8 p.m.

Our teenagers are organizing a club to help their Greenbelt neighbors. Do you need a baby sitter, help in your spring cleaning, or someone to do odd jobs around the house? Call the Recreation Department between 4 and 5:30 p.m. and we will lend you a helping hand. A nominal fee will be charged according to the type of job.

The Greenbelt Recreation Department in conjunction with the Greenbelt Little League will sponsor a Men's Unlimited Basketball Tournament at the Youth Center on March 21, 22, and 23. Trophies will be awarded to the champion, runner-up, and third place teams. Individual trophies will be presented to the championship team. Entrance fee for this tournament will be $12.00 for teams from the state of Maryland, and out-of-state teams will pay $15.00. All entry fees must be in to the Recreation Department no later than Monday, March 11. For further information please call 474-6878.

Lion's Club Doughnut Sale

On Saturday morning, February 16, members of the Greenbelt Lions and their families will be selling doughnuts in a door-to-door campaign. The funds raised will be used for club participation in the annual District Convention at Atlantic City in June.

Myrna Chasanow Chosen Homemaker of Tomorrow

Myrna Chasanow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Chasanow of Greenbelt, will represent High Point in the 1963 Homemaker of Tomorrow competition. Having achieved the highest score in a knowledge and aptitude test given senior girls on December 4, she is now eligible, along with winners in other state high schools, for the title of state Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The state Homemaker of Tomorrow is awarded a $1,500 scholarship by General Mills, sponsor of the program, with the runner-up receiving a $500 scholarship. The school of each state Homemaker of Tomorrow is awarded a complete set of Encyclopedia Britannica. Basis for selection of local and state winners was a test prepared and scored by Science Research Associates, Chicago. Personal observation and interviews are added factors in determining national winners.

At High Point Myrna has been active in the Future Homemakers Club; she is President of the High Point Chapter, state President in 1962 and Fourth Vice President of the state in 1961. Myrna's other school activities are Treasurer of Student Council, Vice President of National Thespian Society, Dramatics Club, and Riding Club.

CORRECTION

City manager James Giese will deliver a talk on "Greenbelt Today and Tomorrow" to the members of the Lakewood Citizens' Association on March 7 at 8:30 p.m. The date given in last week's issue of the News Review was incorrect.

Urban Renewal Studied

A motion for detailed study of requests by several Prince George's County municipalities for urban renewal authority was approved recently by the County Board of Commissioners.

Commissioner Gladys N. Spellman pointed out to the Board that both the County's Legislative Delegation and a special committee of the County Health and Welfare Council were looking into whether such authority should be dispersed among the various municipalities or concentrated in the hand of the County government.

The commissioners agreed to contact the Health and Welfare Council for its report as soon as completed and agreed further to request the delegation to delay any action on the question until the Board of Commissioners had time to study the Health and Welfare report and the entire question of jurisdiction.

City Notes

Greenbelt's Department of Public Works has been doing some emergency road-patching during the past week. A temporary cold-mix material (for use in cold and wet weather) has been employed. City workmen have also been clearing road shoulders of debris left by melting snow

Most of the city employees had the day off on Lincoln's Birthday, February 12. Exceptions were the police, switchboard, and waste collection staffs. No waste collections will be made on Washington's Birthday, February 22. However, bus service will continue as usual

The shallow end of Greenbelt Lake was inspected by representatives of the firm of F. P. Asher and Sons on Saturday, February 9. The Asher company, which has been doing clearing and grading work at Beltway Plaza, gave some preliminary estimates of the cost of deepening the swampy area. The job would involve clearing out an accumulation of silt and debris near the shores of the lake, and using this fill to build up an island in the middle of the channel. This procedure would save the cost of hauling away the fill. The job would probably cost approximately $1,000 and take a week to complete. It is expected that the city manager will probably bring the matter up before the City Council in the near future

The Police Blotter

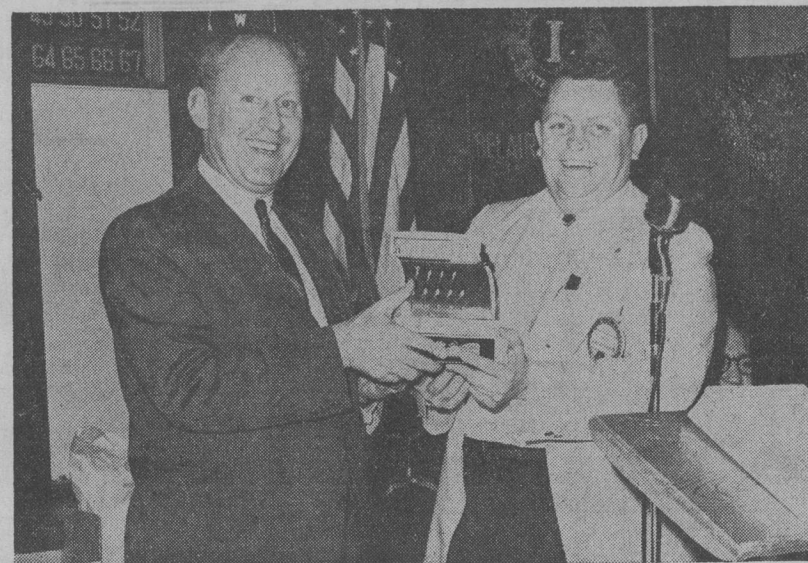

During an interview with a member of the staff of the News Review, Acting Chief Marshall Zoellner revealed that four adults, who had observed vandals at work destroying the government weather station at Hillside and Research last week did not feel that it was their duty to notify the police.

Zoellner commented that a police force is only as good as the citizens make it. If the information had been given at the time of the incident, the guilty parties might have been apprehended and other vandalism might also have been avoided that night. Many police hours could have been saved.

Thieves broke into lockers at 9 Parkway last week. The property in one locker was untouched but valuable sporting equipment was reported missing from the other.

Police Officer Walker found an abandoned car on Crescent near Northway last Saturday. When the license number was checked, it was found that the car had been reported stolen from Silver Spring two days earlier.

175 Lions Hear Goldstein Talk

President Roy Breashears presents State Comptroller Goldstein a two-way cash register as a climax to the evening's entertainment.

WHAT GOES ON

Thursday, Feb. 14, 7:45 p.m. GHI board meets, Administration bldg. Hamilton Pl.

Friday, Feb. 15, 8:15 p.m. Brotherhood Services, JCC

Saturday, Feb. 16 — Lions Club doughnut sale

Sunday, Feb. 17, 2 to 5 p.m. — Family Day at Youth Center 10:45 a.m. — Brotherhood services, Community Church

Monday, Feb. 18, 8 p.m. — City Council meets, city offices

Thursday, Feb. 21 — 8 p.m. St. Hugh's Home and School Association meets

Friday, Feb. 22, 8:30 p.m. — Duplicate bridge, Hospitality Room

Speaking to a five Club zone meeting of 22-C Lions last night at the American Legion, Louis L. Goldstein. State Comptroller stated that the town of Greenbelt has a bright future. "The city," he said, "was developed by a group of dedicated purposeful men and I feel that such a group still exists which predicts a promising future for the town and Prince Georges County as a whole."

Goldstein spoke on "Government at the State Level," stressing that Maryland has a balanced and growing economy; that the state is in the black with an adequate income, a reasonable surplus and a balanced check book.

Roy Breashears, President of the Greenbelt Lions Club, presided over the meeting of approximately 175 Lions from the following area clubs: Belair, Greater Landover Hills, Greenbelt (hosts), Laurel, and Suburban.

Among the guests were District Governor of 22-C, C. Randolph Burner; Frank Lastner, Chairman of the County Commissioners, Greenbelt Mayor, Francis White and City Manager James Giese.

Joint Services Slated For Brotherhood Week

Joint services in recognition of Brotherhood Week will be held by the Greenbelt Community Church and the Jewish Community Center of Prince Georges County.

There will be an exchange of pulpits on Friday, February 15, at 8:15 p.m. in the Jewish Community Center. Rabbi Morris Gordon will officiate, assisted by Cantor Lester Tepper, with the Reverend Kenneth B. Wyatt of the Greenbelt Community Church delivering the sermon, "Brothers Together." Services will be followed by the presentation of a number of Israeli dances and songs by the Young Judea Dance Group under the leadership of Miss Arlene Gordon.

Services will be held jointly on Sunday, February 17 at 10:45 a.m. in the Greenbelt Community Church with the Rev. Mr. Wyatt officiating and Rabbi Gordon delivering the sermon, "Dreams of Zion." Choral presentations will be offered by the Community Church Adult and Junior Choirs under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Goetze, Minister of Music.

Kirkley to Become an Eagle

Explorer Post 746 will hold an Eagle Court of Honor for Mack Kirkley on Friday, February 15, at 7:45 p.m. at the Mowatt Methodist Church. Mack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Kirkley, 131 Greenhill. He will advance from the rank of life scout to that of Eagle, the highest rank attainable in scouting.

Explorer Post 746 will then have six Eagle Scouts in its membership of 11 youths, making it one of the leading posts in the national capital area. Only one scout troop in the district includes more Eagles in its ranks.

The Master of Ceremonies for the evening will be Frank Lastner, Chairman of the Prince Georges Board of County Commissioners. Big league baseball player Bill Werber will be the guest speaker. The ceremony is open to the public.

4 High Point Students Considered for Award

Four High Point Students — Jeanne Carriere, Donald Lingrell, Jeffrey Orleans, and Bruce Sidwell — have been notified by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey, that they are candidates for the 1963 National Honor Society Scholarships by achieving high scores on the preliminary scholastic aptitude test. The test was given to seniors on October 16, 1962. The scholarship board will meet early in May and an announcement of the scholarship or award winners will be made at that time.

Jeanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carriere of Greenbelt; Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lingrell; Jeffrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elihu Orleans; and Bruce is the son of Mrs. Phoebe Sidwell of Takoma Park.

SURVEY OF GRADUATES

Mrs. Shirley Perry, High Point counselor, has completed a survey of High Point graduates '62 and found that 56% were continuing their education and 32% were presently employed. One hundred forty two '62 graduates are attending a four year college or university; 31, a two-year college; 18 are in nursing; and forty-one are in business, technical, or some type of special school.

Of the graduates 82 are in clerical work, 15 are in some type of technical work, 20 are in sales, 10 are in some other type of work. Four percent of those graduating are in the armed forces and 8% are not presently employed and are seeking work or have remained at home.

Monday Nite Art Class

The Monday evening art class, being taught by Mrs. Sari Shiren at the youth center, has had only a few sessions, but already its members are beginning to get the feel of putting their colors down on canvas.

This is a class intended for fun, something the student becomes absorbed in and loses himself for an hour or two at each session of painting. There are teenagers and older people, men and women, all learning together. A would-be artist in the class finds there are more rewards than just the finished painting. If any others would be interested in joining this class, they may call Mrs. Shiren at 474-8761.

WHAT IS AT STAKE?

To the Editor,

The rather hysterical shrieks (verbal, thank God) which filled the columns of the News Review in the February 7, 1963 issue, indicated that there are those who would prefer to engage in a brawl rather than in an objective discussion of what is at stake in the proposal to charge the News Review $50.00 per month rent for the basement space it occupies.

At the outset, it would be well if we considered the fact that the News Review is the one institution in our city which has provided, and continues to provide, a sense of community and continuity despite the rather large turn-over in population. It is precisely this sense of community and the fact of continuity which our paper provides each of us that gives our citizenship in the City of Greenbelt a lustre which would not be present if there were no News Review, or its equivalent, to provide these important ingredients. For providing these essentials of meaningful living, every one of us is in profound debt to those who, through the years, have given freely of their time, talent, energy, and devotion. I might say that such an example of selflessness and service is rare indeed and fills me with a sense of pride in my fellow townsmen who continue in their service to the people in the face of a whole series of discouragements — such discouragements as would have caused many others to quit in disgust.

I would rest content with what I have already stated were it not for the completely amoral series of suggestions which have been put forth by those who knowingly, or unknowingly, would put the News Review out of existence.

First, the claim is made that the News Review has been receiving a "subsidy" from GHI. Actually, this is not the case. For the use of the basement space used by the News Review, the members of GHI have been the chief beneficiaries in receiving, without charge, faithful delivery each week of the News Review. Through the columns of the News Review, GHI members have been kept informed of important happenings in that organization as well as in the community at large.

Second, the News Review was not and is not set up to be a money-making venture. It was established to provide a community service without profit accruing to any member of the staff or member of the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association, Inc. Thus, to compare the News Review with other service organizations whose budgets derive from the general citizenry, or to compare it with other enterprises which include in their charge for services rendered such items as wages and rent and profit, among other things, is like comparing apples with fish. Only like things can be compared.

Third, even the amount of rent suggested, namely $50.00 per month, is a manufactured figure. What is the standing GHI charge for non-profit making, non-commercial enterprises using basement space in GHI-owned apartment houses?

Fourth, the suggestion made that the News Review editorial policy can be influenced by either a "subsidy" or the advertiser's dollar, is an outrageous suggestion. I can witness to the fact that when an attempt to influence editorial policy by the threat of an advertiser to withdraw patronage from the News Review if the policy was not changed, and a promise to increase the advertising if the policy became more pleasing to the advertiser, the News Review rejected both the stick and the carrot and maintained its integrity.

The snide attempt to attack the editorial integrity of the News Review reflects upon the attacker and not on the paper. Could it be that just because the News Review reports the news as its reporters see it that there is such a hullabaloo?

To tie this specious and spurious argument that the News Review submits to pressure of any kind to a "modest price" is to state that integrity and ethical conduct is for sale — albeit at a "modest price."

For 10, these many years, those who advertise in the News Review have made it possible for that paper to provide the GHI members and other citizens of this community with information. The advertising was forthcoming because the advertisers were aware of the fact that the paper goes into each and every home and that it has a wide, consistent, and faithful readership.

I have frequently disagreed with the editorial policy of the News Review but as a newspaper editor, as a practicing journalist, I must declare that it is the right, it is the duty of a newspaper to have its editorial position and to proclaim it.

Finally, since materialism has raised its ugly face in the form of a "modest price" let us take a look at how well some guardians of GHI financial stability do their work. For $50.00 per month, or $600.00 per year — less than 50 cents a year for each GHI member — they will permit the News Review to continue its free distribution of the paper to GHI members, they will permit those with a sense of service to work with practically no remuneration whatsoever. Such sense of obligation to the community by the "pro-renters" is surely something to be admired. Their "logic" is surely classical, their concern for integrity is touching, their idealism knows no bounds. But, when such an offer of "salvation" — "you will find that financial independence is certainly worth a modest price" — is offered in such a friendly fashion one can only reply: "With friends such as these, who needs enemies?"

A "LAWBREAKER" PROTESTS

To the Editor:

Although I have never had the pleasure of meeting the gentleman, I find that Mr. Bordenet has accused me of breaking the law in last week's News Review! Me, who have never even gotten a parking ticket!

I must confess that I resent being dumped into the same category with the perpetrators of the hit and run sheet put out by the so-called "Citizens for Fair Taxation". It is no secret that I prepared the posters urging approval of the capital improvements referendum. Nothing in these posters was dishonest or misleading in any way. As a mother urgently concerned with the safety not only of my own children, but all the other children who daily take their lives in their hands walking to school in the streets, I could think of no other way to bring to the attention of the voters the importance of passing the referendum and finally getting some walkways for our children.

At first, I, Elaine Skolnik, and our children held the posters and urged people to vote "yes". Later this proved rather uncomfortable, so we secured the posters with tacks and string. Finally, when it got dark and our children got cold and hungry, we went home to make dinner. The voting still had an hour to go, so we left the posters. Not being lawyers or politicians, what we did seemed quite natural to us.

Far from wishing to stay anonymous, I am proud of my posters and the role I played in the referendum. Apparently, those persons who skulked about in the dark leaving those "anonymous memoranda" are not quite so proud of their actions for so far no one has come forward to claim "credit" for what he has done.

CO-OPERATIVE APPROACH?

To the Editor:

Bill Helm's suggestion that the housing cooperative charge the News Review rent for the space it is using may make sense from a private capitalism viewpoint, but certainly not from the standpoint of cooperative capitalism, or consumer cooperation.

Carry Bill's idea to its logical extreme and we would get a news paper controlled by some wealthy person, who would use it to promote his own ends. Or you would get a political group taking it over and using it to promote its particular beliefs. Or it would become one of a little chain of papers controlled by some outside printer.

No suburban community can support a real moneymaking newspaper. There just isn't the economic base for it.

But operated as a cooperative, we have a vital paper, open to anyone who can write and is willing to spend some time helping to produce the paper. The news and editorial policy is controlled by these same people. And I believe our community is much the better because of it.

I can see Bill Helm as an individual advocating charging whatever the market will bear. But I cannot see him advocating this as a member of the Board of Directors of a consumer cooperative. The advantages of the present cooperative approach seem so apparent.

Does he think the people of Greenbelt would have been better off if what is now Greenbelt Homes had been sold to the highest bidder, who then would have charged as much rent as he could get the people to pay?

James Cassels

KILLING THE CREDITOR

To the Editor:

When we moved here two and one-half years ago our first impression of the vitality of Greenbelt was gained from reading the News Review. Since that time we have seen local and public issues presented, discussed, and accepted or rejected through its pages. Many of the issues have been minor ones, but among them we have found major issues as well - problems which have affected the destiny of Greenbelt and the lives of its inhabitants profoundly.

If the G.D.C. wishes to "tax" the News Review out of existence by imposing rent on a non-profit organization for space that is not suitable for commercial or residential use, we feel that it would be making an error which all of us would soon regret.

Greenbelt is indebted to the News Review a thousand times over. Killing the creditor does not settle the debt.

THANKS

I would like to express my sincere "thanks" to the Greenbelt Volunteer Rescue Squad for their prompt and courteous response to my call last Friday, February 1. Mrs. Laurence Levine 3-H Eastway

BELLY-ACHING

To the Editor:

Articles and letters appearing in your recent issues tend to create the impression that the ground floor space occupied by the News Review at the nominal rental of $3.00 per month is vacant, practically useless, space. You neglected to mention that this space can be easily converted to very attractive two-bedroom ground floor apartments, as was done in the building right across the street; by doing so, the ground floor space occupied by the News Review would bring in a rental of approximately $1,000.00 per year as compared with the $36.00 per year we now receive, a difference of $964.00 per year. Eight such spaces are available for conversion and could probably pay for themselves within a short time and then commence earning revenues for G.H.I. — if this were done when G.H.I. purchased the apartments we would have earned about $80,000 by now which would probably have paid our costs of remodeling and perhaps avoided some of G.H.I.'s increases to members.

I would like to hear those who have been belly-aching against trying to obtain a fair rent for G.H.I.'s space explain their way around this one — they might like to explain how $8,000 more income per year would "wreck" G.H.I. financially.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moltz, 2-L Plateau, are the proud parents of a son. January 30 was the all important date.

Neal L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Smith, 129 Greenhill, completed recruit training, January 18, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

From sunny Palm Beach, Florida come winter greetings from the Levi M. Pittmans, former Greenbelters. Mrs. Pittman writes, "I saw the Silver Anniversary Brochure while visiting Gladys Long (former Greenbelter) in Fort Lauderdale, so thought enough of it that I am ordering two. One for my family and one for my son who lived in Greenbelt from the time he was three—until he went into the Air Force. He and his family now live near Seattle, Washington."

AND IF YOU HAVEN'T PURCHASED YOUR COPY OF THE BROCHURE, DO IT RIGHT NOW! CALL GR. 4-6787.

The very happiest and healthiest 82nd birthday for Mrs. Annie B. MacGregor, long time Greenbelt resident, who makes her home with daughter, Mrs. George Daffan, 11-A Hillside. Mrs. MacGregor is the widow of Angus MacGregor, landscape engineer, who was on the job during the years of Greenbelt's construction.

A happy-happy birthday to Katrina Stroup, 22-F Crescent, who was a year old on Tuesday.

John S. Alman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Alman of 4-M Gardenway, completed recruit training on January 25, following nine weeks of basic recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

Brian M. Moore, airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Moore of 2 Westway, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Constellation, which was part of the combined force of 20 ships engaged in Exercise Saddle Blanket early in February off the coast of Southern California. The five-day exercise, held from Feb. 4 through Feb. 8, dealt mainly with anti-submarine warfare training.

"Maybe it's stuck!"

This winter has been tough! Freezing temperatures . . . high winds . . . and snow—a lot worse than the normal winter, according to the Weather Bureau.

During long cold spells your heating system works harder and longer . . . uses more fuel. Naturally it costs you more to keep comfortable.

To help you keep warm for less money, we have a useful booklet, "9 Tips to Save Heating Dollars." Write or call for your free copy today.

High Point High Points

by Naomi Baron

The basketball record of the past two weeks reads:

High Point over DuVal, 48-47
High Point over Central, 72-56
High Point over Northwestern, 73-52

BCC over High Point, 55-50.

The Eagles are now running neck-in-neck with Bladensburg for first place in the Prince Georges County AA League.

Greenbelter Jeanne Carriere is one of the four High Pointers to be considered for a National Honor Society Scholarship. Preliminary selection was made using the scores from a scholastic aptitude administered last October.

Homemaking is more than a chore that just anyone can do successfully. Ask Myrna Chasanow, recent winner of High Point's portion of a statewide contest for Home-maker of Tomorrow. Myrna now will compete at the state level for a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills.

Music is in the air — any High Pointer will tell you. The University of Maryland Concert Band presented two concerts for the student body on February 7. Wednesday, February 13 brought a stirring evening of the music of J. S. Bach. The annual festival included music by the Summit Singers, Harmonettes, harpsichord soloist, and various instrumental ensembles.

This year was the best yet for the Annual March of Dimes drive at High Point. Under the sponsorship of the Pom Pom girls, over $150 was collected.

"There is more to it than meets the eye" was the general consensus among members of Open End after hearing three speakers address the group on Modern Art. Mrs. Dorothy McGee, mother of Greenbelter Kathleen McGee, spoke on the impressionist painters. The other lecturers covered the most recent artistic schools.

Biology teacher Mr. Robert Wistort has recently returned from a national conference of the Biological Science Curriculum Study held in Chicago. Over 125 educators attended the two day meeting.

Kindergarten Get-Together

The Greenbelt Cooperative Kindergarten will have its annual get-together at the Family Day at the Youth Center, sponsored by Twin Pines, on Sunday, February 17, from 2 to 5 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

On Monday, February 11, the royal court for the "Imperial Sweetheart Ball" was elected by the student body. The dance, an annual affair at GJHS, is to be held on Friday, February 15, from 8 to 11 p.m. in the school gym. The court consists of six couples, two from each grade. Three couples were elected from the 9th grade, and out of those six people, one boy and one girl will be crowned King and Queen before an envious crowd at the dance. Their Royal Majesties will then be seated on their thrones to reign over their new kingdom for the remainder of the evening.

ST. HUGH'S SPEAKER

Gerald Cullinan, representing the Serra Club of Washington, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the St. Hugh's Home and School Association next Thursday, February 21. His topic will be "Religious Vocations".

Cullinan received his BA and MA from Oxford University in England and is a writer and consultant in Labor Management Problems. He is a charter member of the Diocesan Serra Club.

Classroom visitation will begin at 7:15 p.m. with the meeting starting promptly at 8 p.m. Refreshments and social will follow in the Social Room.

CORRECTION

Last Week's News Review inadvertently omitted a paragraph from William Helm's letter with respect to the four principles on which he based his proposal for the News Review rental charge. At the request of Mr. Helm, we are reprinting the four principles (we hope correctly this time).

1. GDC has an obligation to charge a fair rental for such office space.
2. The News Review has an obligation to pay a fair rental for office space.
3. Three Dollars per month is not a fair rental for the space involved — I estimate that this amounts to about ten cents per sq. ft., when other office space in Greenbelt commands about $6.00 per sq. ft.
4. The fifty dollars per month figure was chosen because that is the very cheapest rent that any GDC unit rents for.

Sincerely,
William P. Helm
